Dial Telephone System Cut Over Saturday Nite

Saturday is the big day in Canyon telephone history.

It will be "ring out the old, ring in the new" here late Saturday night when Canyon's new automatic telephone system is put into operation by the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

"Ringing out the old" means an end to the manual telephone system which has served the city for 40 years.

"Ringing in the new" heralds the advent of the automatic telephone system — a significant milestone in the city's communications history. It makes possible a telephone system capable of making on a second's notice, any one of more than 2 million interconnections between Canyon's telephones.

A. O. Thomas, local district manager for the telephone company, announced that everything is in readiness for the switchover.

As the time for the change to dial approaches Saturday night, a few last calls will be trickling through the present switchboard and the last familiar "Number, please" will be heard. A final check of calls being handled will be made to assure that no emergency calls are involved. Then the cutover order will be passed to telephone men who will go into action at the present central office and the new building at 1608 Fifth Avenue.

Key cables which have been "half-tapped" so that they would be connected to both central offices while the new dial system was under construction will be cut so that all lines will tie only to the new dial office. Simultaneously at the new dial building, hundreds of small "blocking tools" will be quickly yanked out of the dial equipment by men pulling hundreds of them at a time by means of connecting cords.

Then each telephone line in the city will be connected directly to the new dial switching equipment. The power switch in the old central office will be thrown and the new dial system will be in operation.

With these three moves, too, every telephone number in the city will change.

The actual change to dial operation as described will take perhaps one minute or slightly longer to perform. But the job to be done in sixty seconds climaxes a year of painstaking effort by hundreds of telephone technicians all over the country, according to Thomas.

A new modern telephone building was constructed; several carloads of dial telephone equipment was engineered, built to order, delivered, placed and wired. A group of Western Electric installers were on the job. All told, over 540,000 hand-soldered wire connections are in the new dial building.

In addition to this work, outside construction crews added thousands of feet of new cable to the city's network of lines; local telephone men installed dial telephones all over the city; a complete double set of records on every telephone in Canyon set up and maintained; exhaustive tests on telephones and other equipment were made; and a new dial telephone directory was compiled and published.

Speaker Says Present Farm Program Best

Twenty-five people were present Thursday night for the Farm Bureau meeting in the 47th District Court room of the Randall County courthouse to hear Stanley Garnett, member of Agriculture Secretary Benson's wheat advisory committee. He was introduced by Gus Dietz, president of District 1 of the Farm Bureau.

Garnett said that one of the main things keeping wheat prices from going higher was the surplus wheat on hand. He explained that farmers couldn't store wheat for any length of time as the cost of storage soon would equal the price they could get for the wheat. He said that in five years time storage would equal the price wheat was selling for thus leaving the farmer who has to store in a company elevator no profit after that time.

The speaker said that 800,000 bushels of wheat were required to fill the domestic consumption needs of this country annually. So far as the production of wheat is concerned, he said we were staying fairly close to the average.

In 1953 the national wheat average per acre was 15.5 bushels. In 1952 the average was 18.8 and in 1951 16.6. The figures show that the national annual average has been fairly consistent.

"Today's farm program is the agriculture act of 1938," said Garnett. He said it was given careful consideration before it was passed and had a three-fold purpose. One purpose was to make possible a fair profit for the producer. The second purpose was to put a control on commodities, and the third was a soil conservation measure. He said that he believed this was the best farm program of the three now being studied. The other two plans are "bushels and allotment and the two price plan."

The speaker said the bushels and allotment plan would hurt the farmer who has had several crop failures. He explained that the plan based future yields on what the land had done in the recent past.

The two price plan, said the speaker, would tend to put poor grade wheat in competition with corn sold for feed by farmers in the northern states and would be unfair to them. He summed up by saying that the best plan was the present program.

After Mr. Garnett finished his talk W. T. Robinson, chairman of the resolutions committee, read ten resolutions his committee had passed. They will be open for further discussion tomorrow night at a meeting in the Farm Bureau office here.

Gus Dietz also read one of his resolutions which would be submitted to the Farm Bureau convention at Mineral Wells on Nov. 9-10-11. Dietz will be leaving for the convention on November 4 to help prepare some of the resolutions. He is on the convention's resolution committee.

Brandon Has 10% Ticket For $44

Mrs. Jackie Brandon won $44 Saturday on a 10% ticket at the Treasure Chest drawing. Her ticket was the second one drawn, the first one was not claimed. Incidentally, the first ticket was for 30% and would have netted over $100 to the owner if he had been present.

Saturday's drawing was conducted following the Homecoming Parade. The usual time of the drawing is 3:30 p. m. from the bandstand on the east side of the square. Roland Black, Chamber of Commerce manager, said the drawing would be held at the usual time Saturday.

Amount of money in the chest Saturday will be $456. If the winner Saturday has a 10% ticket it will be good for $45.60, and if it happens to be a 50% ticket he will take home $228.

City Mail Delivery Equipment Received

The last of the equipment for starting city mail delivery has been received at the local postoffice, states Guy Harp, postmaster. When the service will start depends upon the Post Office Department in Washington.

Examinations were taken by several local persons for the delivery job, and these are qualified to serve when word is received that the mail will be delivered.

Funeral Service Charles L. Sone Held Saturday

Funeral service for Dr. Charles Lemuel Sone was held Saturday morning at 11 o'clock at the First Methodist Church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Lester L. Hill.

Mr. Sone died at 5:15 o'clock Thursday evening after having suffered a heart attack at his home in the Gerald Hotel early that morning.

Mr. Sone was born May 5, 1871, in Missouri. Mrs. Sone had died in Canyon Jan. 4, 1945, soon after the couple had celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary.

Dr. Sone was converted and joined the Methodist Church at the age of 12 years. He was faithful in the performance of his duties and was one of the finest Christian gentlemen in Canyon. During his 82 years he was a school superintendent in Canyon from 1919 to 1922 and upon retirement from active service in the schools of Texas, 12 years ago, he returned to Canyon to spend his last years.

He was granted an honorary degree from McMurry College of Abilene in 1952 because of his long service in the schools and in Methodist churches of Texas.

Five children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Sone, two being deceased. Survivors are L. L. Sone of Pampa, former school superintendent of that city and now a business man; Dr. L. R. Sone of Fort Worth, president of Texas Wesleyan College; and one daughter, Mrs. W. R. Reynolds of Albuquerque; seven grandchildren, and five great-grandchildren.

The body was buried in Dreamland Cemetery by the side of his wife, under the direction of the Griggs-Warren Funeral Home. Pall bearers were H. A. Brotherton, Dan Sanders, C. A. Murray, W. A. Miller, Milton Morris, J. W. Shook.

Local Firm Picture in The Southwesterner

One of the local business firms is pictured in this month's The Southwesterner, trade magazine of the Southwestern Public Service Company. Bellah's Super Market is the business pictured, and the occasion is the big "bonus bag" special recently held on light bulbs by the company. The clerk pictured in the magazine is Lynn Blewett.

The magazine reports that the "bonus bag" bulb promotion passed its quota during the second week of the sale. This quota was 2,264 bags. By the time the sale ended on October 10 more than 9,777 bonus bags of bulbs had been sold. The magazine reported this number as being incomplete.

Land Outside the Irrigation Belt Removed From Tax

Tom McFarland of Lubbock met with the Commissioners Court Monday, presenting the problems of the water district which is in the water district. By vote of the land owners, tax is collected upon all land in this belt.

Removal of lands which indicate clearly not to have sufficient water for irrigation, was discussed, and the method used to remove this land from the rolls was presented by McFarland.

Bayonne, France, was the first place to make bayonets — hence their name.

Three Brothers Are Farm Club Junior Members

Recently Glenn, Norman, and Weldon Tucek were named to Junior Membership in the American Milking Shorthorn Society by W. J. Hardy, secretary of the Society. The boys are the sons of Raymond Tucek, a farmer who lives about five miles east of town. The family is described as a real farm family and all the boys have done both 4-H Club and F.F.A. work.

Norman is the oldest of the three boys. He is 17 years and was formerly a member of the 4-H Club, but now is in the F.F.A., holding a State Farmer Degree in the organization. He is also a Star State Farmer of Area 1; a past district president, and at present president of Area 1. He is known for his registered Poland China pigs, registered shorthorn cattle and the fat steers he feeds. He has been in show competition for several years and is considered by many to be one of the better showmen of this area.

Glenn Tucek, 13, is following closely behind Norman. He has fed steers for several years also. His steers have been shown in the Randall County Junior Livestock show. He also owns some registered hogs.

Weldon Tucek is 11 years of age and is the third member of the family to become active in farm club work. In addition to feeding steers he has registered pigs.

County Agent John Brazzil and F.F.A. head, Loyd Devin, say the father of these boys has been a great help to them. He often takes time out from his work on the farm to give the boys a hand in the show ring. He doesn't hesitate to furnish a truck to carry the boys on summer camping trips or to transport their show cattle several hundred miles. Last week at the State Fair Mr. Tucek spent the entire week with his three boys giving them all the help he could in showing their steers and shorthorn heifers.

This year Mrs. Tucek also got into the picture as she spent last week at the fair with the boys. She has been described as one of the interested spectators at all events the boys enter.

The Tucek farm is a typical Randall County farm. Some of the things described as being raised on the farm are wheat, grain sorghum, livestock, feed, registered milk shorthorn cattle, registered Poland China pigs, white leghorn chickens, rabbits, and a fine group of young Tuceks.

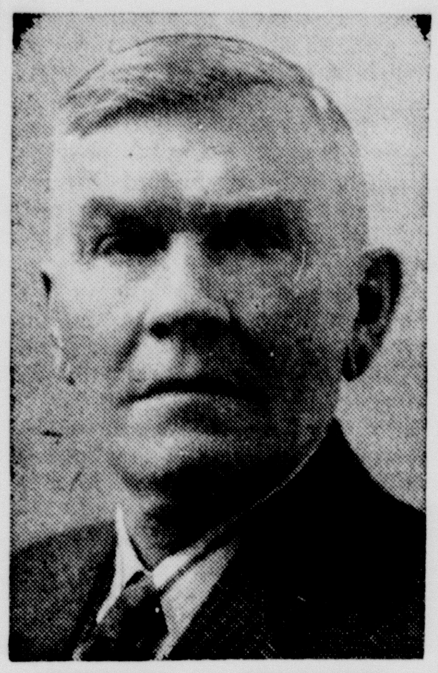
Buy, Build, Live in Canyon!

C. H. Stratton Died Monday Eve



CHARLES H. STRATTON

Death came Monday evening to Charles H. Stratton, 75 years of age, who had been a resident of Canyon for 53 years. He died at Caney, Kansas, home of his son, where he has been for several months due to poor health.

The body will be brought to Canyon for burial. The services will be held Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Baptist Church, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Strauss Atkinson.

Mr. Stratton retired from active business a few years ago. He was born at Richardson on April 24, 1878, and worked on various ranches in Randall county during the pioneer days. When he moved to Canyon he was connected with the city police force until poor health caused him to resign.

Masonic services will be held in connection with the funeral services. Pall bearers will be Lee Foster, Bill Money, L. W. Cole, Guy Harp, Dr. Charles Martin, J. W. Spencer.

The deceased is survived by his wife and one son, Charles A. Stratton, who is with an oil company.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barnhill have returned from a 10-day business trip to Atlanta, Ga. They stopped in New Orleans and drove around the coast drive through Florida enroute to their destination. Mrs. Barnhill's mother, Mrs. C. K. Shelton of Plainview, stayed in Canyon with Frank, Jr., and Ann while their parents were away.

C. E. Strain is here from his home in Washington to visit in the home of his brother, H. S. Strain. He was director of the Buffalo Band before resigning.

Four Inches of Rain Fell in City Over The Week - End — 16.40 For Year

Canyon received four inches of rain during the past week-end, bringing the total for the month of October to 5.25 inches, and the total for 1953 to 16.40 inches.

This is the first time that all parts of Randall county have received heavy rains. Canyon was in the lightest rain belt of this period, but has received plenty of moisture to bring up the wheat which was planted.

For the first time this year the Southeast part of the county received ample moisture for planting wheat. Roger Gist states that the ground has been so hard and dry that he has not planted any crops this year. Wheat pasture will be adequate for grazing.

As a result of the rains, the cattle market has picked up slightly on the local market. Cattle raisers feel that with the good rains, there will be ample wheat through the winter and there is pasture to carry their herds no necessity of selling on the low prevailing market.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Warren left Monday night for Dallas to buy goods for the store.

Hosea Foster To Head WT Exes

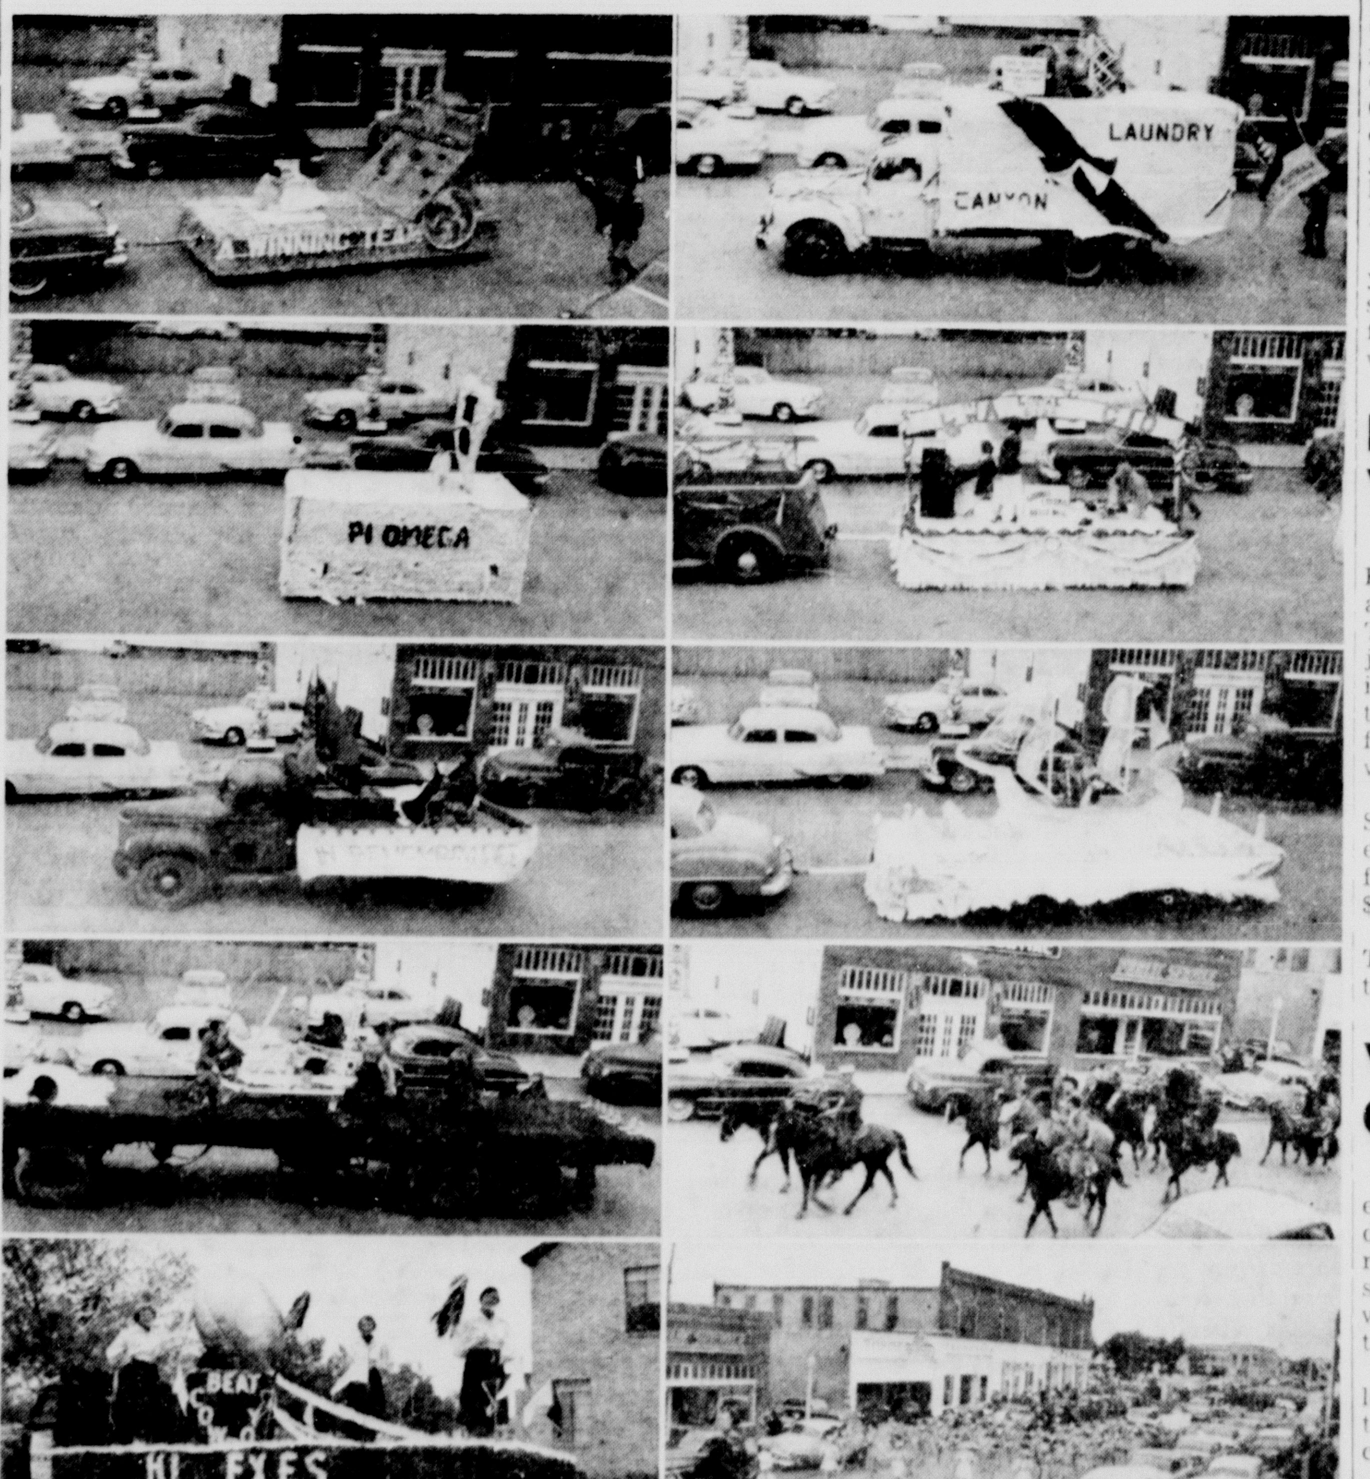
Hosea Foster, Canyon insurance man, was elected president of the West Texas State College Ex-Students Association in a mail ballot conducted last week, according to Milton Morris, executive secretary.

Foster, a 1935 graduate of the college, succeeds Lawrence "Zeke" Brotherton, Canyon teacher, as president.

Elected first vice-president of the association was Carroll Doshier, Amarillo insurance man who was graduated in 1949. Henry Sears, mayor of Hereford, and a 1930 WT graduate, was named second vice-president. New Board of Directors members chosen were Roger Morris, Vega, who was re-elected, and Mrs. Fred Tripp, the former Miss Mary Kate Brotherton, of Amarillo.

Board members remaining in office are Brotherton, Mrs. Allene Ledbetter, Dumas, Vernon Harmon, Happy, and Jerry Bollen, Roswell, N. M.

Floats, Bands and Features of Homecoming Parade



—Photos by Britain Studio

Headed by Sheriff L. S. Johnston and the West Texas State Buffalo Band, a parade of 10 high school bands, and floats of various business and professional groups swung around the public square Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The order of Homecoming had been changed to meet the demands of returning exes, but a light shower late Saturday afternoon held attendance down at the barbecue and football game. Due to cloudy weather which prevailed, the pictures by Pat Britain for The Canyon News are not as clear as usual.

Local Youth To Aid CROP Send Milk Overseas

A large number of young people of this area will make the Methodist Church its headquarters tomorrow evening while soliciting funds to help hungry children abroad. From 7:30 until 9:30 tomorrow evening the youthful workers will be out seeking money to send milk to undernourished children overseas.

Milk that is to be sent overseas has been donated to CROP by the government. All the young Christian Rural Overseas Program workers are seeking enough money to transport the milk to the hungry children.

Children who are soliciting the funds will present an identification card. Churches cooperating in the program are the Methodist, Baptist, Episcopal, Christian, and Presbyterian. The job these people have undertaken is that of delivering the milk.

Here are some of the things your money will do when donated to the youngsters tomorrow evening. Only 10 cents is needed to deliver a cup of milk a day to one youngster overseas for a period of two months. Your donation of 60 cents will deliver a cup of milk every day for the period of one year. A donation of $6 will deliver a cup of milk every day to 10 persons overseas.

When a young person comes to your door Thursday evening for a small contribution, remember, it's for another young person overseas who isn't so fortunate as he.

Float Contest Winners Named

John Mullins, manager of the Hereford Chamber of Commerce, and Jack Schwartz, manager of the Tulia Chamber of Commerce, were judges in the float contest Saturday in which the first prize went to the Rotary Club "United Nations" float. First place organizational winner won a $75 purse.

Second place float was the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. entry. This was the commercial float, and the prize for it was $50.

Special events prize was $25. This prize went to Otta Lee's Beauty Shop.

The contract includes building a new 350,000 gallon underground storage tank; pump house; 4,632 feet of 14 inch pipe; 8,730 feet of 12 inch pipe; 1,150 feet of 10 inch pipe; 4,488 feet of 6 inch pipe, together with all fittings and installation.

Work will start within 10 days and will take about four months to complete.

About Building a Community What Have We Here to Offer?

Building a community is one of the big problems facing all citizens of every town in every state of the union.

Let it be remembered that all towns cannot grow over night into big metropolitan cities.

Very few communities have the transportation facilities; skilled labor; an adequate supply of water; housing necessary; and a lot of other necessary facilities for a quick growth.

We had just as well face the situation and go down the line slowly but surely.

The Canyon Chamber of Commerce is faced with these problems. Most enterprising citizens immediately think of some big factory in order to build a larger community.

So far as we are concerned, just as well forget such a sudden growth. It simply is not in the cards for Canyon to grow over night from its present population into a town of 15,000 or 20,000. If the people should suddenly come, where would we put them, and what could we do with them?

Secretary of Commerce Roland Black attended a meeting recently in College Station. He was asked what Canyon had to offer and what facilities we had. When he advised that this was the location of a state college, he was told to go back home and help build the institution. An additional 100 students per year would mean more to Canyon than a good sized industrial plant.

This is just one thing. We have right at our door step the facilities to improve Canyon slowly but surely.

We have a number of small industrial plants which will make a steady growth if all of our citizens will only patronize them.

Naturally we are interested in one of these plants—printing. Yet, you would be amazed to see the large volume of printing which is sent away every week to some outside firm who has no interest in Canyon other than to get the printing which should be done in Canyon.

We are the county seat of Randall county. We have seen the string of salesmen who carry away orders for printing which could be done in Canyon if county officials were alert to the fact that every one of these orders could be done in Canyon, and that by having the printing done here more employes would be added to the payroll of this paper. The same is true of office supplies, which are ordered daily by all business concerns from fellows who never spend a dime in Canyon.

We have used our own business as a sort of model. The same is true of every other business firm in Canyon. We have a lot of folks who cannot buy at home simply because they prefer to rush away to the big city and buy their weekly or monthly supplies.

We are simply convinced that Canyon will never be a large town unless all of our citizens join hands and are determined to make it a better and a larger town by trading at home.

Think it over before you get all hot and bothered and call these simple and direct statements preaching. No, thank you, we are not a preacher and do not use this space either for preaching or a whipping post.

Local Work vs. Federal Work Was Given Fair Trial in Idaho

We are amazed at the small price some people can get by with when they make up their minds to do the work by the sweat of their brow.

We note that one county in Idaho was being washed away and it was necessary to build a dam to retain the flood water.

The folks naturally thought about Washington and called upon the government to do the job.

The engineers came and said that the project would cost $500,000, and the preliminary cost would be $30,000 for their services — payable at once.

A half million dollars to Washington is mere peanuts to federal employes, but to the farmers of Idaho it was a big pile of money. Naturally they would be called upon to foot the bill.

The farmers got busy on their own: they hired an engineer for a small fraction of the charge which the government boys wanted; they chipped in their $100, $50, $20, and even down as low as $1 to finance the job.

Sometimes they did not know whether they could finish the job, or meet the weekly payroll; but the job was finally finished—and the total cost was $39,745.

Perhaps the dam is not as fancy as the one which the half million dollars would have built, but it is holding water and keeping valuable land from being washed away.

It is always refreshing to hear of some local community which has guts enough to undertake local projects rather than rush to Washington to seek aid.

Unjust Taxation Imposed As Railroads Pay Taxes for Planes

We are not in the class of citizens who likes to see big corporations taxed just because the public needs the money. And incidentally we do not own one cent's worth of stock in any corporation.

Here we have a point: One railroad in one city spent $14½ million dollars of the shareholders' money improving a union depot and providing for adequate parking space around the newly remodeled lot. Why? Because the people had no adequate place for their cars while waiting for their friends or members of their families at the depot. This was in spite of steadily declining revenues.

At the same time this same city called upon the taxpayers to vote bonds in the same amount to improve the airport of that city. Who will pay for the railroad improvements? The stockholders and those who use the facilities of the railroad? Who will pay for the airport facilities? Every taxpayer in that community, including the railroad which has already improved its facilities. Naturally the air lines will be charged a small fee for landing privileges, but not nearly enough to meet the improvement costs.

Who will use the airport facilities? The customers who formerly used the facilities of the railroad, and who are likewise paying Uncle Sam a premium on every letter and every article carried by the planes.

Is this a square deal?

Legislation is not the cure for every economic and social ill; jail sentences would help more.

Planning to make money and getting it into your bank account are two very different undertakings.

President Eisenhower Comes to The Defense of Secretary Benson

We see where President Eisenhower rushes to the defense of Secretary of Agriculture Benson. He believes that Benson is doing the best possible job on a long range program.

We have so little information on this major problem that we are unwilling to stick out our neck at this time.

Let it be remembered, the President appointed his cabinet members with the view of carrying out a long range program. He allows these persons all of the freedom necessary in order to do a good job.

Perhaps Secretary Benson understands and appreciates the farmers' problems. It is likewise certain that the President does not understand or appreciate these problems. His statement that the politicians, rather than the farmers, were raising all of the commotion against the policies of the Secretary leads one to wonder as to whether the President really understands or appreciates the farmers' plight.

What we started out to say is that the President, alone, and not a member of his cabinet, will be held responsible for the results of his administration. The first test is very, very clear to us: When the strong Republican district in Wisconsin elected for the first time in history a Democrat to a seat in Congress, it was no fluke. The farmers are mad about the policy of Benson, whether justified or not.

The voters have the final say, and President Eisenhower may awaken too late. He can save the day by telling Benson to get busy, and not sit around doing little or nothing to save the farmers of America.

Panhandle folks were highly impressed by the statement of the President in Amarillo when he said that there would be no dilly-dallying around in the feed program. There has been nothing but dilly-dallying on the part of his hirelings.

The people of this nation are sick and tired of changing opinions and policies every day. That is the reason they hired Eisenhower and fired Truman's followers. But if the Eisenhower crowd is going to follow the same domestic policy as Truman adopted, look out Mr. President in 1956—you will be ousted by the irate voters.

Since the people have definitely learned that the country is not going to hades by changing administration, they will not hesitate to kick out the Republicans and install another Democratic administration, in spite of 20 years under the New Deal policy.

Federal Chislers on Income Tax Is the Latest National Disgrace

A new type of chisler has appeared in this nation. We have been cussing the French for not supporting their government, but here at home we have just as bad, or even worse, situation.

Some one has discovered that federal employes are beating Uncle Sam out of millions of dollars income taxes through a well devised plan.

Those federal boys make their returns, but thumb their noses at the collector when he attempts to collect the tax. They are safe in their jobs, simply because the law under which they operate says that no federal employee may be fired for non-payment of taxes, and no one can take one cent of federal money for tax delinquency.

It is a fine situation when private citizens of this country may have all of their property confiscated and sold to pay income taxes while a federal employee is free to do as he pleases about these same taxes.

Congress promises to do something about this situation.

Civil service has become a cloak for unscrupulous federal employes who want to defeat the purpose of the government. Fortunately there are not many persons in this class, but altogether too many who are willing to accept the protection which the unjust situation permits.

Pay Your Poll Tax and Get Ready for Big Battle in 1954

The year of 1954 will certainly be one of decision when it comes to the people of Texas.

We note with interest that Charles H. Tennyson, secretary of the Texas State Teachers Association, urges all teachers of Texas to pay their poll tax receipt and be ready to vote in the primaries of 1954.

Tennyson recalls that when the teachers were trying to get a wage increase from the last session of the legislature that member after member had reported that they were not afraid of the teachers of their district because of the small number and the fact that so few of them ever paid their poll tax or took an active part in politics.

When the legislature was kicking the teachers in the teeth after promising an increase in salary, we predicted that there could be a house cleaning in 1954. Naturally we do not expect the people to elect a legislature strictly upon the basis of teacher salary increase; there will be too many other issues for just this one to settle the political destiny of any legislator. But we do expect to see this problem become a major issue when the lawmakers meet in 1954.

And what about the Governor? Shivers has not carried out his pledge to the teachers, but here again the issues are too cloudy so far to determine just what may take place.

Politically, we shall see what we shall see in 1954.

Too Many Places to Go and Too Many Things to See for the Time

In these rush times there are simply too many places to go and too many worthwhile things to see and attend.

We wish that we had the time to take in all of the worthy things which occur in Canyon week after week, and day after day. Perhaps we have missed a lot of good stories simply because of the pressure of time.

We do not expect to see fewer events pulled off simply because one old foggy feels incapable of keeping up with the times. This is a sign of progress. Perhaps not many of us feel that these gatherings are worthy of our time and effort, and that the world will not go to everlasting damnation because of our absence.

We like to see folks get together and express their sentiment on various questions. They may never save the world but the fact that they are doing their best to help the world out of a serious situation is cause enough for these folks to meet and they should be encouraged to meet.

Honesty is more often a policy than a principle.

Darkness Is Vital Enemy in Traffic Hazards of State

"A strong offense is the best defense against night traffic hazards!"

That statement was made today by Col. E. B. Tilley of Houston, president of the Texas Safety Association, speaking on behalf of the Texas Safety Association's Night Traffic Hazards program which is being conducted throughout October in cooperation with the Texas Department of Public Safety.

"Darkness is the enemy we have to fight in our campaign on night traffic accidents," Col. Tilley said. "More accidents occur at night than in the daylight hours because cars, pedestrians, cyclists and stationary objects can not be seen readily in the dark.

"Light, then, is our best weapon to use against the enemy. And I'm for launching an all-out light 'offensive'."

He said, "Such an offensive would be effective if all pedestrians, cyclists, and motorists would make sure that they and their vehicles are visible on streets and highways at night. He advised motorists to adopt the following rules for night driving:

1. Double-check all lights.
2. Use headlights properly. Use the upper beam on rural highways when no approaching car is within 1,000 feet. Use the lower beam when oncoming cars approach you, when you are overtaking another car, or when driving in cities and residential areas.
3. Dim your lights even though an incoming driver fails to dim his. Maintain control of your car by looking at the right shoulder of the highway.
4. Never pull onto a thoroughfare at night unless all front and rear lights are on.
5. If it's necessary to stop on the highway at night, pull completely off the road and be sure parking and dome lights are one. It's a good idea to carry flares or fuses to prepare for such emergencies."

"Cyclists and pedestrians can also make themselves visible at night," Col. Tilley said. "The cyclist should be sure that he has a good headlight and tail light on his bike. It's also a good idea to trim the bike with white reflectorized material and to wear light colored or white clothing or something trimmed with reflectorized material."

He warned pedestrians, especially, to remember that motorists can't see them if they wear dark clothing at night. "Their best protection," he said, "is to wear light clothing or something trimmed with reflectorized material or to carry a piece of such material or a flashlight."

LIBERAL

Evidently the radio people have become liberals, too. They think a good program is improved if it's changed.

The U. S. retains the Ryder Cup defeating Britain.

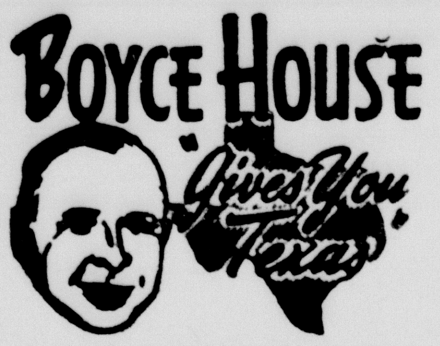
BOYCE HOUSE



Interesting people, these writing fellows!

Charles Dickens wrote his novels in installments and the copies of one issue of the magazine would be out while the author was racing to write the next installment. Edgar Allan Poe read the first installment of "Barnaby Rudge" and then sat down and wrote a letter, telling how the novel would end. Dickens replied, "The devil must have told you that because nobody but the devil and I knew."

The former Texan, O. Henry, agreed to write a story each week for the Sunday New York World. Being ever in need of money, he would obtain an advance and then the editor had his troubles in getting the story. So he adopted the rule that, until some part of the story was written and on his desk, there would be no advance. Whereupon, O. Henry would sit down and write two or three sprightly paragraphs about this-and-that, and send them down as the opening of a new story, and the advance would be granted. When he did write the actual story, the "introduction" had no particular connection with it — which may solve a mystery that has been in the minds of some of you O. Henry fans.

Ben Thompson, gambler and gunfighter, was marshal of Austin. A drunken cowboy, who did not recognize Ben, knocked his hat off and then as Ben drew his pistol, took refuge behind a post with only an ear showing. Thompson notched his ear with a bullet.

But Ben's most remarkable shooting took place in Austin saloon. The proprietor and the bartender opened fire across the bar. Thompson killed the proprietor, whereupon the bartender ducked out of sight. Ben, calculating where the man's head was, fired through the heavy bar and fatally wounded him.

Oran Thomas Talks On Dial System of Telephones Tuesday

A. Oran Thomas, district manager of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, spoke Tuesday at the weekly luncheon of the Canyon Rotary Club. He will represent his company Saturday night when the change over is made from the present manual system to the dial system.

There are several things which the people will miss under the new system, stated Thomas. Personal service; giving correct time of day; acting as an alarm clock; no fire alarm system.

These services will be offset by faster connections; immediate connections, complete secrecy of conversation.

Mr. Thomas gave a demonstration as to the correct means of dialing the phone: Look up the correct number wanted; run the dial completely around until the finger hits the stop; let the dial go back to its stopping place; do not start dialing until you hear the dial signal.

When the number is busy, the dial will sound. When there is a wrong number, allow the dial to sound before replacing the receiver, allow the bell to ring at least 10 times before giving up the number.

The entire system has been rebuilt for the dail system, including the rural phones. Some equipment used in Canyon is at least 25 years in advance of the equipment used in parts of Amarillo; but such rapid strides are being made in telephone construction that the new system in Canyon may be termed out of date three days after having been completed.

Wonderful strides have been made in the communication business in past 75 years, stated the speaker.

Visitors were: Mr. and Mrs. Claude F. Wright of Garden City, Kansas; D. H. Alexander, S. M. Dunham, N. E. Milburn, all of Hereford; W. V. Dell, Oran Thomas, W. F. Perkins, R. T. Alexander, Bill Defee, Forrest Barnes, E. Kancher, J. J. Sanders, L. W. Ledbetter, Allen Shaw, John Jenkins, Bud Thompson, J. F. Brown, Irving Tolzien, Frank Hagood, all of Amarillo.

Bowen Pope of Hamlin A "First"

Bowen Pope of Hamlin was in Canyon Saturday for the West Texas State Homecoming. He says that he was among the "firsts" in Canyon to propose and to register in the college when it was established in 1909.

Mr. Pope was employed in the First National Bank at that time. He met a group of citizens on the street and asked why Canyon did not go after the location of the college which was to be established. His suggestion drew immediate approval.

When the college opened in 1910, Mr. Pope says that he was the first man to enroll as a student. He had been a teacher in the Tulia schools before that time.

Mr. Pope later went to Hamlin where he bought the Herald and was a successful publisher for many years until 1945 when he retired. He served in the legislature during his business career, with the publisher of The Canyon News.

"I have known just two persons in Canyon throughout the years and wanted to meet both of them—Dr. J. A. Hill and Clyde Warwick," he stated Saturday while visiting at The Canyon News.

Indian Dance and Awards Highlight Scouts Meeting

An estimated 150 people were present Monday night at the American Legion Hall for the presentation of awards and the Kwahadis Boy Scout group of Amarillo's Indian dances. Advancement awards presented included arrowheads, wolf badges, bear badges, and lion badges.

In addition to awards given the Scouts, there were five mothers present to receive wards. They were Mrs. Bob Bellah, Mrs. Mary Joe Robinson, Mrs. Green, Mrs. Reece, and Mrs. J. A. Hutto. The badges were presented the five mothers for service and time that they have devoted to Cub Scouts.

Highlight of the evening was the 25 minute dance program by the Kwahadis Boy Scouts of Amarillo under the leadership of Mr. Ireland. These boys actually lived with Indians to learn the dances. The Indians have complimented the Scouts by saying that they do the dances better than some of the Indians. Among the dances on Monday night's program were the Navajo and the Hook dance.

Roland Black, Chamber of Commerce manager, said there were so many present that many of the Cub Scouts had to sit on the floor. The group, according to Black, took in a total of $50.50.

Lights To Help You See Better

How fast are your vision reflexes at night?

Try standing in a dark closet until your eyes are accustomed to the darkness. Then look straight at the light while you turn it on suddenly. How many objects can you clearly see in the first ten seconds after the light comes on?

That's no mere academic experiment. It's the kind of thing that happens to you when you drive at night. Bright headlights in your eyes have the same effect as the light in the closet.

And ten seconds is more than enough time for a fatal accident.

Maybe you have perfect night vision. But if your lights blind the driver you're meeting — the chances are that he'll hit you. It's a simple matter to make sure your headlights are safe — by having your whole electrical system checked by the men who know it best, the service men at your new car dealer's, where you bought your car.

That kind of care pays off in other ways, too. Remember, for instance, the last time you overtook a dark-clothed pedestrian, walking on the wrong side of the road at night? Did you see him in time—or did your lights pick him up after he was so close that you couldn't have stopped in time if he had stepped into your path?

That's what's known as "overdriving your lights." One simple remedy is to drive more slowly at night than you do in daylight—and that's a good rule no matter what condition your lights are in.

Another rule, just as good, is to have your headlights checked for focus, brightness, beam tilt, and general safe condition.

For really safe night driving, be sure all your lights are working safely—turn signals, stop signals, tail and parking lights, and dashboard lights.

No amount of good night vision will save you—if you can't see.

WASHINGTON AND

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

A heartening development has occurred in Washington. As a result, there is greater optimism over free enterprise future.

* * *

This conclusion follows announcement four major airlines will carry mail over certain routes at reduced rates on year's experimental basis.

C.W. Harder

* * *

The background is interesting. For some time, a feeling existed American air transportation is too closely controlled by bureaucratic edict; that Post Office losses which started ballyhoo for rate increases is tied into same picture.

* * *

First the Senate Small Business Committee held extensive hearings on situation. Then pertinent parts of testimony were published over nation, chiefly in independent weekly newspapers.

* * *

Hearings revealed that instead of seeking bids on open market for air service, both rates and subsidies the Post Office must pay were set down by edict of Civil Aereonautics Board.

* * *

Public reaction to this disclosure was so quick that almost immediately it was announced that some $80-million in air mail subsidies was being taken out of the Post Office liabilities to be paid by CAB who must get money from Congress if it can.

* * *

It also revealed that CAB fixed rate for carrying mail for 45 to 53 cents per ton mile is equal or higher than the airlines receive for first class passengers. Independent airlines, or those classed by CAB as irregular, offer to carry mail for 15¢ rate.

Immediately on heels of this disclosure, it was announced four major airlines will carry all first class mail they have room for between Washington and New York and Chicago for a rate of 18.86 and 20.04 cents per ton mile.

* * *

As yet, the independents, or irregulars, cannot carry mail. In fact, CAB has never permitted them a hearing on matter.

* * *

Railroads who receive rate estimated slightly above 16 cents per ton mile are concerned. Competition could lower rail rates, too.

* * *

Thus it is possible that if free competition is made to prevail, Post Office deficit will turn out nothing more than wasteful operation forced on a major veteran government department by "Johnny-come-lately" bureaus.

* * *

The rapid sequence of events establishes that an energetic and sincere Senate Small Business Committee, and House Small Business Committee can get the facts revealed, and disclosure of these facts in the independent American press composed almost entirely of the nation's weekly and small dailies, will do much to guard free enterprise.

* * *

An interesting "hands across the sea . . . in U. S. pockets" note. England, recipient of millions in aid from US taxpayers will this spring launch a new yacht for royal family. A 413 foot, 21 knot speed luxury ocean going ship, it will be manned by 22 officers and 225 men.

* * *

Last January the U. S. President whose taxpayers still pay huge taxes to pay for aid to England, ordered the presidential yacht, the much smaller Williamsburg, taken out of commission as economy move.

Latest Rumors From Political Front of Nation

President Eisenhower has cut down in his visits to the golf course, partly because of a sore arm and partly because of growing evidence that the voting public appears to feel that golf distracts from the job of being President.

Maj. Gen. Howard Snyder, the President's physician, continues to find Mr. Eisenhower's health to be basically sound. Rumors that the President has a heart condition or high blood pressure are reported to be untrue. The President does have a stomach that acts up once in a while and an elbow, a shoulder and a knee that sometimes develop an ache or two.

The President is fussing about the diet that General Snyder has put him on. It takes constant watchfulness to see that Ike eats what he is told to eat. There was a presidential complaint when the dish put before him included liver.

James Hagerty, White House Press Secretary, is being blamed by some Republican members of Congress for a spreading impression that the President either isn't well or that he spends a lot of time on vacations, playing golf and traveling. A policy of holding out on news is pictured as leading to creation of false impressions.

Mr. Eisenhower is making it clear to budget makers for the Government that, when the issue of economy vs. military security arises, the White House decision is on the side of security even if an unbalanced budget is the result.

Joseph Dodge, Budget Director, now is admitting publicly what President Roosevelt and President Truman used to preach—that you can't balance the budget by firing people or cutting out extravagance. Mr. Dodge finds that it takes deep slashes in military spending, foreign aid and other big programs to provide the vast savings needed.

President Eisenhower's lack of spontaneous interest in figures is something of a problem to the Government's budget officers who try to get decisions on problems that require a sharp understanding of figures.

Homer Capehart, Indiana Senator, is not getting far with his idea of giving power over Republican policy in the Senate to an organization of committee chairmen instead of a five-man policy committee. The White House does not like the Capehart plan.

Frank Lausche, Ohio's Governor, is to run for the Senate in 1954 and Thomas Burke, who's to be the new Ohio Senator through appointment by Governor Lausche, will run for the job of Ohio Governor. That's supposed to be the political understanding.

The New Deal wing of the Democratic Party is perking up as a result of the election of a liberal Democrat in a Republican district of Wisconsin. There is to be a scramble for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1956, with New Dealers counting on success for their side.

James Mitchell, before becoming Secretary of Labor to succeed Martin Durkin, had turned down a job as Assistant Secretary. Mr. Durkin himself made the offer.

Ezra Benson may be forced by political pressures to step out as Secretary of Agriculture sometime in 1954, not in 1953. If he stepped out now, a successor might be in the same kind of trouble and be forced to make way for a third man just before 1954 elections. Pleasing the farm voter is far from an easy assignment.

Arthur Burns, top economic adviser to President Eisenhower, is most concerned by the chance that businessmen may decide all at once and all along the line to cut down on inventories. If that happens, quite a few people might lose jobs.

Marshal Tito, dictator of Yugoslavia, gave American officials a jolt when he wheeled Patton tanks—a gift from U. S.—into line to face other Patton tanks manned by U. S. troops in Trieste. A vision flashed before official eyes of the possibility that Americans sometime might have to fight against American weapons now being given away.

John Foster Dulles, U. S. Secretary of State, joined with Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary, in deciding to withdraw troops from Trieste, leaving Italy in charge, as a means of bolstering political fortunes of Giuseppe Pella, Italy's anti-Communist Premier. Pella's Government is shaky at the moment.

Charles Wilson, Defense Secretary, really is saying this about the H-bomb: It was two years ago that U. S. set off the same sort of thermonuclear reaction that Russia recently staged. U. S. is about a year away from having actual H-bombs in production. Ergo: Russia is three years away from an actual H-bomb if her progress is as fast as that of U. S.

Farm extension service to aid million has been launched by India.

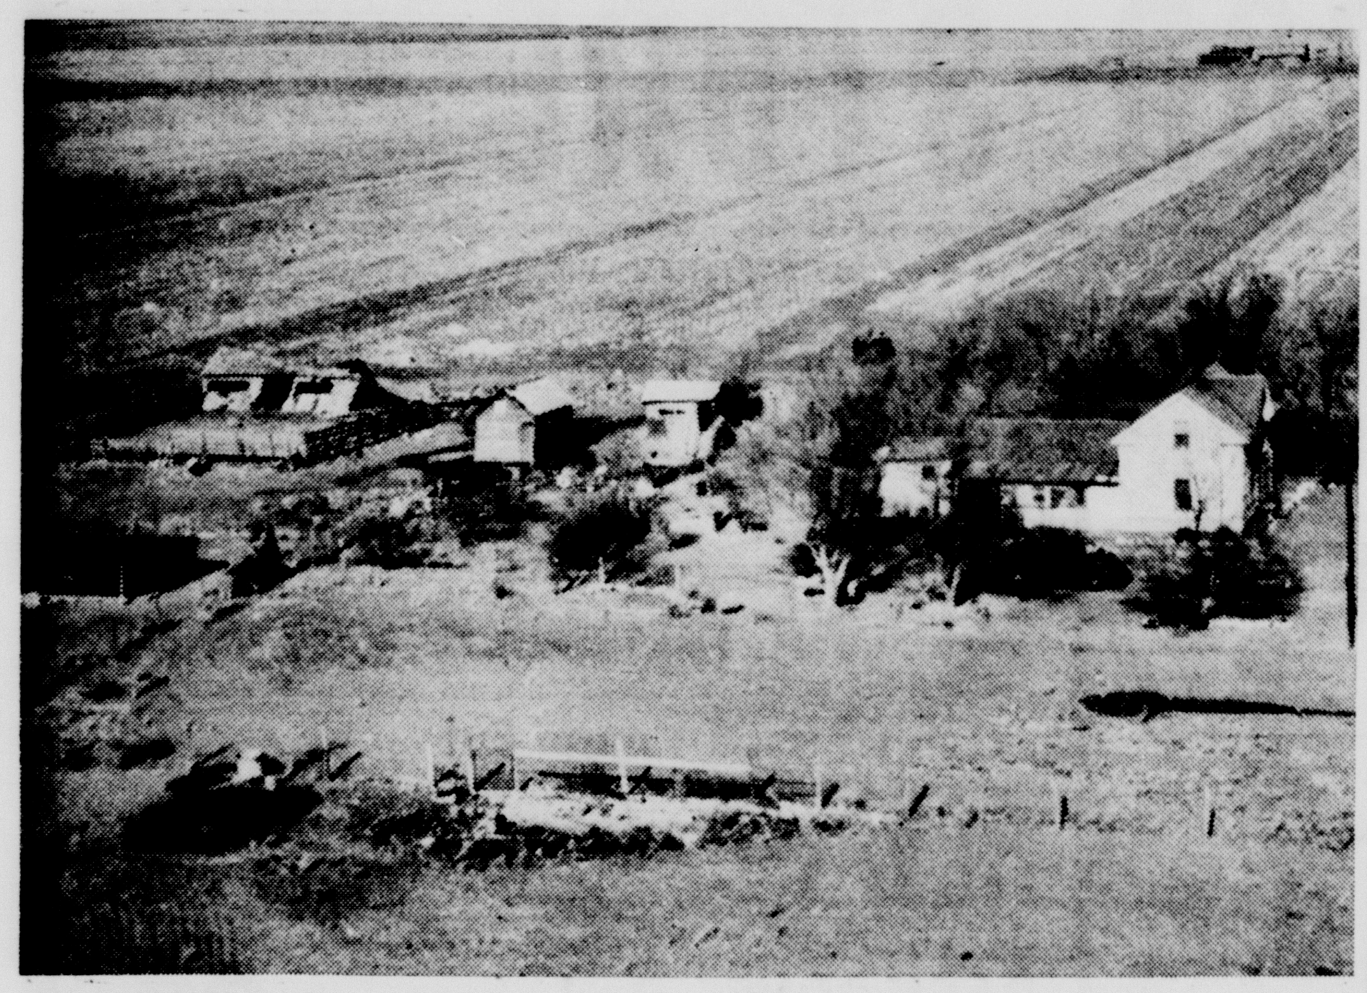
Eugene Zachry Identifies Mystery Farm No. 29



Mystery Farm No. 29 was identified early Wednesday morning by Eugene Zachry. The farm is located about five miles west and about one and one-third mile north of Canyon. The farm is an estate and has been in the Zachry family more than 34 years, going on two generations.

Among the recent changes in the place are a few buildings that have been replaced. This summer tornadic winds destroyed a number of the outbuildings west of the farm house. Some of the buildings are shown on the photograph and some of them are too far west to be in the picture.

The entire farm consists of 213 acres and the favorite crops are milo and wheat. Favorite livestock on the farm is Hereford cattle. There is one 6-inch irrigation well on the place and the remainder of the land is dry land farmed.

Eugene Zachry and Claribell Newberry were married in 1939. Today they have two boys, Robert Eugene and Thomas Black, both at home. As his hobbies Zachry listed hunting and fishing in that order.

The Zachrys have been reading The Canyon News for the past 18 years. The farmer said his favorite portion of the paper is the front page news.

LIPSTICK LOGIC

BY LOUISE ALLEN

Ever stop and look at a thought? Just pluck it out of mid-air, where someone tossed it in conversation, and examine it under a microscope?

An idea, about the size of a raindrop maybe, comes out of somebody's head. Doesn't look like much at first glance, and yet it's full of meaning.

Whole books have been written about thinking as a science, but most of us haven't read them. Fact is, we're amazed to find we go through a scientific process every time we think about anything.

If Junior wakes up with a cold, we weigh the values: Shall he go on to school and take that test, or had he better stay home today? Of course, if we keep him at home, he'll fret over the test so that he'll be sick sure enough. He doesn't really feel bad; colds don't bother him. Still, he's likely to spread cold germs, and some of the other kids may be less hearty. Induction, deduction — finding answers, weighing them against known facts, and coming up with the best solution of which we're capable.

True, if we've promised to help at the church that day, and there's no one to stay with Junior, our thinking takes a short cut to fit our conveniences: Junior goes to school and we're guilty of rationalizing.

Or if the family has planned a trip, we'll look ridiculous saying he's too sick to go to school today, then taking him off on vacation the day after tomorrow. So we pretend his cold clears up. That's wishful, or dishonest thinking (the books say).

Little thoughts, like raindrops, reflect a lot that doesn't seem to be a part of them: prejudices, likes and dislikes; ignorance of certain factors; even, sometimes, what we ate for supper.

We didn't think much of atoms, either, until scientists began looking at them critically.

Ex-President Herbert Hoover Is Still Strong For Man Rejected

By STANLEY JAMES

WASHINGTON: At 79, former President Herbert Hoover still has a springy step and a bright gleam in his eye as he reports for active duty again at the White House.

The nation's only living Republican ex-President is going back to his old haunts regularly now, as chairman of the new Hoover commission which will further streamline the complicated mazes of the Federal government.

THIS CORRESPONDENT interviewed him as Hoover stepped out of President Eisenhower's office, the other day, during the World Series.

Asked if he knew of any other news that could top the World Series, he replied:

"No," he replied, with a frosty smile, "except that I ought to be up there watching the ball game."

Then the ex-President was questioned about the appointment of Governor Earl Warren of California as Chief Justice. Having been a resident of California, himself, when he was elected President, Hoover said a few polite things about Warren's abilities. But it is no secret that, as a conservative, he does not agree with the rather "liberal" views of Warren.

HOOVER'S IDEA of the type of man for the Supreme Court is summed up in the person of John J. Parker, chief judge of the U. S. Court of Appeals for the Fourth Circuit.

When he was only 44 years old in 1930, Parker was named by Hoover to a seat on the Supreme Court. But the Senate refused confirmation by the margin of 41 to 39. The excuse was that Parker had joined in upholding the legality of a so-called "yellow dog" contract, binding West Virginia coal miners not to strike or join labor unions. But some Senators voted against him just to slap at Hoover.

The depression was just starting then, and the popularity of the Great Engineer was beginning to wane. So Parker fell, a sacrifice to opponents of Hoover; but Hoover said he still considers him "one of the greatest jurists this country has ever produced."

A CERTAINTY

And if the money spent for war could be spent to make people prosperous and happy, there would be cars enough to eliminate the surplus population.

QUITE A MISTAKE

Kansas City, Mo. — W. C. Boosman lost his pet pointer dog, Queenie, and advertised in the newspaper for her, offering $15 to her finder. By mistake, the ad stated the reward to be $1,500. Boosman received a flood of replies to his ad — more than 300 dogs, brought by scores of people. He didn't have to pay even $15, however, because he found Queenie himself.

CONTEST TOO NOISY

Albuquerque, N. M. — Fair officials have run into difficulty on a contest planned for the New Mexico State Fair poultry show. The contest was to show which rooster exhibited could crow the loudest? The difficulty? They can't find officials who want to rise at the necessary 4 a. m. to judge the noisy contest.

LIKES IT AT HOME

Sunbury, Pa. — After straying away from his own pasture and staying gone for several weeks, a white - nosed Hereford steer, belonging to George Ward, quietly walked inside a fenced lot, and through a bar gate purposedly let down for him, and rejoined Ward's 28-head herd.

We want your new and used car business now and in the future! And we want your service business, too!

We handle used cars and trucks as a service to customers who trade them in for new cars. Sometimes we get overloaded with these trade-ins and our capital is tied up. Like everyone else, we have bills to pay. So we must always offer used cars at rock-bottom prices to keep our inventory moving.

Drop in soon and let's talk about a deal. We know you'll agree that the place for you to buy is at your Ford Dealer's.

A HUNTED HUNTER

Ludington, Mich.—After wounding a deer, which he had shot with his bow and arrow, Victor Jensen, 44, trailed it, hoping to make the kill. He became hopelessly snarled in thick brush and had to spend the night in the area. At daybreak, Jensen made his way out of the woods — minus the deer — to encounter a posse of sheriff's officers, conservation men and volunteers who had been hunting for him.

Five Generations of Family Here

Just Between You, Me . . .
. . . and the Gatepost

By Lawrence Hunnicutt

Last week was a red letter week in every sense of the word for the Panhandle area. It rained. That should be enough right there to thrill the hearts of all those people who have been suffering through the long drouth that has been in existence here. There were more smiling faces and happy folks around the square last week than has been seen for a long, long time.

Several people of this area were among the lucky ones to get to attend the State Fair in Dallas last week, too. John Brazzil had some of his 4-H club boys down there. The boys, Foster Parker, Norman and Glenn Tucek, and Albert Craig were showing yearlings at the fair. Of course we'll have a news story of what the boys did in another part of the paper.

Among the other representatives from this area to attend the State Fair is Loyd Devin and some of his F.F.A. boys. The results of how they came out will also be given news coverage.

One of the things that is always interesting for local people to read about is what other local people are doing. Last Friday Mrs. J. C. Curb brought a turnip to The News office that was grown here in town. The amazing part of the turnip, besides its weight of two pounds, was the fact that it was grown by Mrs. Mittie Workman. Mrs. Workman, the mother of District Clerk Ethel Mullins, is 83 years of age and grows her own garden. Mrs. Curb says that Mrs. Workman spades and works her garden, in spite of the water situation which has existed, and she must have been successful to look at the turnip.

There will be a lot of people at the new telephone office Saturday night witnessing the switchover. It's an occasion of ringing out the old and ringing in the new, literally speaking, as the operator type service gives way to the new automatic dial system here. It will be a wonderful occasion for those who have the opportunity to see the switchover as they will probably never have another chance to see anything like this.

The dial system is something that most folks here have been waiting for. Just think, after Saturday there will be no more waiting for the operator to say "Operator." There will just be the short wait for the dial tone and then the small task of dialing. It will be a very snappy and efficient service that the telephone offers but, we're sure going to miss that lovely, warm voice saying "Operator."

Some of the people in town already have had a sneak preview of what the dial system is going to be like. Mrs. Lillie Foster was called to make a test call with the new dial system last week. Another test call was also made from The News office. Almost everyone by this time should have their new dial number. The catch is, how many people have already memorized their new number. Those five numbers sure seem long in comparison to the one, two, and three numbers we used to have to remember, remember?

Prhaps it's because it's been raining lately and then again it may be that it's just the season, at any rate the jokes we're getting even look to us as if they are improving. Just take a look at these new giggle jerkers.

Did you hear about the girl who climbed the ladder of success stare by stare?

Then there's the one about the pedestrian, he may be wrong, but he doesn't deserve a life sentnece.

Perhaps Adam didn't have a funny bone, but he had lots of fun with a spare rib.

YOUR SENATOR REPORTS

By LYNDON B. JOHNSON
U. S. Senator

Johnson Lauds REA Work

Rural electrification is a movement resting primarily upon the initiative and integrity of farm consumers of electricity, declares U. S. Senator Lyndon B. Johnson in an article published in the November issue of Progressive Farmer.

Since the Rural Electrification Administration was established in 1936, four million consumers have been connected to REA-financed lines, the article reports.

"In the Southern States," Johnson writes, "the number of farm homes receiving electric power has jumped from 3.3 per cent to more than 83 per cent of the total. In the country as a whole, more than 85 per cent of all farms are electrified. Nearly 300,000 farm families in Texas are receiving electricity through farm cooperatives."

REA cooperatives are more than $50,000,000 ahead of schedule in repaying the $2,700,000,000 lent them to build transmission networks and to buy power from private utilities and Federal hydro-electric projects, according to the Progressive Farmer article. Delinquencies amount to only one-fifth of one per cent of the amount due.

Declaring that REA is neither a political issue nor "anti-private power" in its concept, the Texas Senior Senator hails its program as "a heartening example of the Government helping people to help themselves."

Rural electrification has made farming both easier and more productive, Johnson asserts in his article, continuing:

"The future of REA is a matter of concern to all of us who have witnessed and participated in its development. The limits in rural electrification have not been reached. More than 16 per cent of the South's farms are still without electric service. Modernization of facilities is far from complete. Existing lines must be 'heavied up' to take care of increasing farm use of electricity."

The article points out the importance of maintaining the authority of REA co-ops to build their own generation and transmission facilities. Weakening of this authority, Johnson warns, would simultaneously increase the need for loans and lessen the co-operatives' ability to maintain their repayment record.

Hunting Season Brings Death to Many Hunters

AUSTIN: Note to hunters: Deer season opens November 16.

That gives you 18 days to resolve to take it easy this year with the 30-30 or the shotgun. Look before you shoot, and shoot where you look.

State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox checked statistical tables today and announced that shooting accidents had claimed the lives of 187 people last year. That's more death than was dealt out by typhoid, scarlet fever, smallpox, diphtheria, whooping cough, measles, typhus, malaria, pellagra, and encephalitis combined for the same period of time.

"It's getting so that hunting seasons are almost as hard on the hunters as they are on the game," the health official commented.

How many of those 187 deaths occurred during the hunting season he didn't say. But with thousands of Nimrods taking to pastures for deer and turkey, it's safe to bet the number was needlessly high.

So why not agree with yourself or other members of your hunting party that this year you will:

Never carry a loaded gun in your car.

Never lay a gun aside unless you personally unload it.

Never carry your gun with the safety catch off.

Never let your finger rest on the trigger, or even inside the trigger guard—until you take aim at the target.

Never point the gun at anything you don't intend to shoot.

Never mix fire water with fire-power.

Never drag a gun through a fence. Put it over before you climb through.

Never shoot a gun without first checking to see if the bore is clear of obstructions.

Never shoot at noises in the brush. Remember that when wild-life is being stalked it seldom makes a noise that you can hear.

Remember, too, that guns can become toys of death for inquisitive youngsters. Unload yours before you get home.

Mystery Farm 28 Is Identified by Former Tenant

Mystery Farm No. 28 is owned by Mamie Kuehn and is located 18 miles southeast of town. The farm was identified through correspondence with H. A. Sykes. Sykes farmed the place for 17 years before leaving. He has been a subscriber to The Canyon News for 10 years and although he has recently moved out of the area, still takes The News. When he saw the picture of the farm he wrote in giving the identification. His favorite section of the paper is the front page news.

The Sykes family attend the Baptist Church. They are the parents of three children, Jimmy, 16, Patsy, 12, and Mike, 3. In his reply by mail Sykes says both wheat and stock are grown on the 740 acre farm. There are 640 acres in wheat and row crop, and 100 acres in pasture. Favorite live-stock on the farm is Angus cattle, that is, when Sykes was there.

How's Your Conduct

Our authority, the dictionary, states that the word conduct means one's actions in general; however, it also states that it also means to guide or lead.

At Canyon High School most of us think of the word as meaning only one's actions. When one reminds us that our behavior needs to be bettered we think of it as a destructive criticism and pay no attention.

We should all use the latter definition and remember that the way we conduct ourselves will influence those around us. Let us be discreet in our boy-girl relationships in the halls. High school students are old enough to know what behavior is fitting and what is out of place.

Maybe you who are going steady think it is perfectly okay to be "mushy" in the halls or public places. For boys and girls to hold hands or have their arms around each other while in the halls is showing a sacred affection which people of good taste do not publicize.

Stop and think! Are you conducting yourself properly? Do you make love in public places? Do you mislead the younger generations by your actions?

We, the youth of today, make tomorrow's future.

Malicious Vandalism

Jealousy has again turned vandal. This seemingly small, insignificant resentment has caused a chain of events that may ruin a life and cause them to become a habitual criminal if this jealousy is not controlled now.

Jealousy is grudging and envious. It takes a student and makes him malicious and distrustful. It is a state of mind that must be controlled before it controls the life of this person.

Recently in our own homemaking department malicious individuals destroyed two skitrs, one by cutting and the other by tearing, and stole the FHA display ring. Jealousy was the only motive for these actions.

Perhaps the person who did these vandalisms isn't over her siege of jealousy and must take out her feelings on some other student. What will she do next? Maybe she will destroy something of more value until becoming habitual criminal punishable by law.

A jealous person doesn't abide by the golden rule and should be pitied because jealousy is like a disease. If it is cured before it spreads the misdemeanor can be helped, but if it isn't it can spread like cancer and destroy this person forever.

Basketball Girls Are Spotlighted

The teams will start their basketball season December 1.

Are you so homely that you always look at the reverse side of a mirror to keep from scaring yourself to death? Do you sleep with your face in a pillow just to be kind to burglars? Do jealous wives like for you to go out with their husbands? Do you pray for rain so that you can hide behind an umbrella? Do crooners swoon when you look at the radio? Do you protect yourself from peeping Toms by leaving the shades up?

Eagles Drop 7-6 Tilt to Shamrock

Coach Guy Harrison's Eagles dropped another game by a heartbreaking one point Friday night when they met the Shamrock Irish in Shamrock. The game, which ended in a 7-6 score in favor of the Irish, was played before an estimated 400 fans who braved the soggy, muddy weather to see the two teams clash.

First quarter of the game was scoreless as the two teams struggled back and forth in the center of the field. Shamrock's Irishmen made the first touchdown which was set up for them by a 15 yard penalty against the Eagles for unnecessary roughness. The penalty placed the Irish about four yards from the goal line and Jack York lugged the ball around the right end for the score. It was also York who kicked the extra point to give the Irish a lead of 7-0.

The Eagles' score came early in the final period of play when Arlen Ruthart hit Jamie Airhart with a 30 yard pass. Airhart carried the ball on over but the Eagles were not able to convert so they lost the game by the one point difference.

The Eagles intercepted three of the Irish passes. R. A. Burgess snagged two of them, and Don Beck caught one. The Irish intercepted three Eagle passes, Jack York taking one and Norrel Perkins getting two. Leroy Burrow, fine Eagle 177-pound center, turned in some excellent performances in defense play.

Some of the other hometown boys who played well were Billy McBroom, David Brandon, Jimmy Golden, Foster Parker, Ken Kuykendall, Larry Porter, Joe Britt, Larry Stroup, and Arlen Ruthart, who did the kicking and punting for Canyon.

Friday night the Eagles meet the Phillips Blackhawks in Buffalo Stadium.

Students Select Queen Candidates

Candidates for the queen of the Halloween Carnival were chosen in class meetings October 22 on the Canyon High campus.

Jo Ann Mickey received the honor of being the candidate from the senior class. In the junior class, Rhea June Ford was chosen candidate.

The sophomore class selected Faye Lowery as its candidate. Barbara Shepard is the candidate from the freshman class.

The Halloween Carnival will be held in the Canyon Grade School gymnasium Saturday, October 31.

BRITAIN MAKES CLASS PICS

Wednesday, October 21, Pat Britain of Britain Studio, began taking freshman pictures for the Soaring Wings of '53-'54. By the afternoon of October 22, the freshmen and sophomore pictures had been completed and the junior filming started when somebody's ugly mug broke the camera. Picture-taking has been postponed for a week. The senior pictures will be taken later. The faculty has been completed.

SPORTS Column

Phillips, Dalhart, and Dumas seem to be the big teams in the 1-AA district race. Phillips and Dalhart boast two victories and no defeats while Dumas boasts one victory and no defeats. Shamrock comes next owning a 1-1 record. The rest of the teams, Hereford, Canyon, and Perryton have yet to win a district game.

Last Friday, October 16, there were three more games, this time Canyon sitting it out. Phillips rolled to a very easy victory over Hereford, 60 to 7. Dumas racked up Perryton, 40 to 0, and Dalhart clipped Shamrock, 26 to 13.

Last Friday, October 23, the games played were: Canyon at Shamrock, Dumas at Hereford, and Phillips at Dalhart. Phillips and Dalhart lay their undefeated records on the line. The game may be one that decides the district winner.

The Quarterback Club decided that Ted Lowe was the standout of the Dalhart game. Ted plays guard. He not only gets those key blocks on offense, but plays a very skillful defensive game, too.

Standings in District 1-AA through October 20 were:

Team	W	L	T	Pct.
Phillips	2	0	0	1.000
Dalhart	2	0	0	1.000
Dumas	1	0	0	1.000
Shamrock	1	1	0	.500
Canyon	0	1	0	.000
Perryton	0	2	0	.000

Better Citizenship Stressed at Meet

Challenging the students to better citizenship—conduct in school, personal hygiene, and manners—was the purpose of the separate boy and girl assemblies held on Tuesday morning, October 20.

The youth of today is tomorrow's future, was the topic of Mrs. T. Winston Wilbanks' speech to the girls. She spoke of ways to become what you desire to be.

Rev. Howard Bramlette addressed the boys' assembly on "Boy-Girl Relationships." Main idea of the address was expressed in three tests to guide you in boy-girl relationship. They are: (1.) Secrecy, is it all right for everyone to know what you do? (2.) Universality, is it all right for everyone in the world to do it? (3.) Could you ask God to bless you for doing everything that you do?

Members of the girls' panel and their topics were introduced by Billene Childers in the following manner: Billie Graham—friendliness; Mrs. Dan Sanders—citizenship and conduct; Anna Marie Barker—cleanliness in school and school grounds; Miss Marilyn Payne—personal hygiene; and Mrs. Irene Beard—manners.

The boys' discussion was of subjects such as cleanliness, conduct, and courtesy which were discussed by a panel consisting of L. H. Brotherton, moderator, Arlen Ruthart, Norman Tucek, Charles Boling, and Joe Watson.

The senior girls' sextet sang "Kentucky Babe" for the girls while the boys were entertained by two boys' ensembles.

Waylon Carroll presided at the boys' assembly and Dorothy Neblett was moderator for the girls.

Senior Teens - - -

Teens will be presented in a new way this year. Each week there will be two mystery seniors. We will furnish clues. All you have to do is furnish the mystery senior's name.

Our first mystery senior belongs to two "future" clubs but doesn't plan to enter either as a profession. If in the future one of your children should get polio this person would come in handy. In preparation for professional work, our first senior plans to enter school in a little town about 50 or 60 miles north of Ft. Worth and Dallas.

One of the teachers said that this person contributes to a group with vivacious and pleasant manner. Will do anything possible to help, says a friend. One of the hobbies enjoyed is collecting souvenirs from colleges.

Our second mystery senior plans to give the town the business after completion of the education required to do this. Number two speaks three languages, English, Spanish, and slang. This person takes part in sports and has been active in the music department.

Our senior makes attractive as well as usual articles during spare time. The senior helped the junior class last year by taking part in the junior play activities and works cooperatively with a quiet air of confidence.

Guessed yet? If you are one of the mystery seniors, don't tell anyone. Wait and see if they recognize you. If you are not one of the mystery seniors and can't guess, tune in next week, same time, same column.

Magazine Sales Total $2814.50

$2814.50 was the goal reached by the junior class on the junior magazine sales this year. This project sponsored by the Curtiss Circulation Company was begun on September 30th and ended October 16th.

Mona Beth Gillham led the group as high salesman of the first day, final day, and of the "Ladies Home Journal."

Alice Simms, second high salesman, Frank Kimbrough, third high salesman, and Gladys Leseberg, fourth high sales, will all receive a top prize.

To encourage everyone to reach his $30 quota, nickel grabs were held. The person whose name was drawn then had a chance to grab if his $30 quota had been reached. June Davis grabbed $5.70; Ellen Johnson $6.15; and Alice Simms, $4.10.

Thirty-six members reached their quota of $30 or more and 19, who had reached the $30 quota, participated in the ice cream feed following the first day's sales.

The following people won prizes for being high salesman for one day: Kenneth Bonds, Ann Moore, Mary Sue Hicks, Ellen Johnson, Alice Simms, and Frank Kimbrough.

Cartoonist Jerry Draws For Paper

The cartoon appearing in this issue of The Eagle's Tale is the first original drawing by a Canyon High School student to appear in the paper. Jerry Martin, staff artist, created the cartoon in the spirit of October's Halloween witchery.

Cartooning is Jerry's hobby, and he plans to go to Texas Tech and Oklahoma University to prepare for a career as a commercial artist.

"Jerry's art is an expression of a person who appreciates his classmates, sees their admirable qualities, and the humorous incidents affecting them. He never lacks for ideas. He is original in those ideas and in the presentation of them. He has a sense of appropriateness which is an asset to any humorist. He is capable, congenial, and industrious, having no time for any but gracious comment by means of tongue or pen," comments Miss Claudia Neelley, art instructor.

Other cartoons will be created during the year as a cooperative project between the art and journalism classes under the combined direction of the art and journalism instructors.

Jerry has taken part in many CHS activities including FTA, Science Club, Junior Red Cross, Spanish Club, Soaring Wings staff, The Eagle's Tale staff, basketball, choir and band. He is a member of the National Honor Society.

Herman Demus, band instructor, tells us that though Jerry is not in the band this year, he has been active for five years and played first chair cornet for four years. In addition to his fine musicianship Jerry helped the band with cartoons for advertising concerts and the Halloween booth. He is a fine artist.

Jerry is a senior and has been in Canyon schools since the fifth grade except for a short stay in Lubbock during his junior year.

Jerry is a tall fellow with blonde hair and blue eyes. You would never guess where he got his nickname Curly. He is well dressed and neat. He is an excellent student and a popular and friendly fellow in Canyon High.

Pep Rally Sends Players to Game

Damp weather did not dampen the spirit of CHS students in the pep rally Friday. The rally was held at the bus to give the football team a send-off to Shamrock.

The cheerleaders and the pep-band performed their regular duties, with the band playing such numbers as "Hot Time in the Old Town," "Argonaut March," "Big Cage March," "Muskrat Ramble," "Fight Song," and the school song.

County - District Clerks Hold '53 Convention Here

Members of the Panhandle-Plains Association of County and District Clerks met at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum Council Room Friday morning at 9 o'clock. Chamber of Commerce President E. M. Myers gave the welcoming address. Roland Black, Chamber of Commerce manager who helped arrange the convention, was on hand to greet the guests.

Dr. J. A. Hill, president emeritus of WTSC, was guest speaker for the business session Friday morning. He talked of the founding of the museum and the interesting persons responsible for the organization and growth of the museum.

He stated that many authorities consider the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum the greatest this side of the Mason & Dixon line. Dr. Hill gave an account of the permanent records left at the museum by the XIT Ranch which was at one time the world's largest ranch.

The district association consists of abiut 50 counties, many clerks outside the district have requested membership. Several stationery houses have also requested privilege of membership. Membership dues are $2.00 annually.

At noon Friday luncheon was served in the Blue Room of the college cafeteria. During the luncheon Mrs. Lee Foster entertained with piano numbers.

After luncheon the convention members were taken on a guided tour of the museum. Many were greatly surprised and delighted to find such interesting collections and histories told of the Panhandle-Plains of Texas. Boone McClure, director of the museum, was the guide for the guests on the main floor, and Curtis Tunnel, geology student, was guide in the science collection department. Because of heavy rains a planned trip to Palo Duro Canyon was cancelled.

Saturday morning another business session was held in the District Court room of the courthouse. Luncheon was enjoyed afterward in the special dining room of the Chuck Wagon Cafe. The convention was dismissed at 1:30 to give the visitors an opportunity to see the Homecoming Parade and attend Homecoming activities.

The next called session of the association will be March 27th in Amarillo. Purpose of this meeting is the election of officers, who serve for a period of one year.

Next annual convention will be held in June of next year. Convention site will be decided at the March meeting when the new offiers take office.

Canyon Chamber of Commerce was hosts for the meeting here. District Clerk Ethel Mullins is currently serving as secretary of the organization.

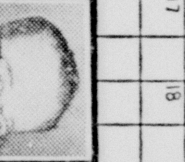
CARROLL D. KEARNS



Courts Are Open To All Citizens Who Seek Protection

Unless you have a close relative who is a lawyer, your opinion of our courts probably is a mixture of hearsay, rumor, mystery and awe. The average citizen has had little experience with the courts, and is apt to view with a sinking feeling some document requiring his presence in court.

Most criminals have a good idea of their rights in court, but the average citizen, confronted with a traffic ticket or court summons, has little knowledge of the protections provided for him. If you are innocent of the charge and know your rights as a citizen in court, you need have no fear of your appearance before the jury and judge.

Probably the most fundamental and important right is summarized in the well known adage, "Every man is innocent until proved guilty." It is up to the prosecuting authorities to prove that the person on trial is guilty — and not the obligation of the person accused to prove that he is innocent.

The prosecution must prove your guilt beyond a reasonable doubt, or you will be acquitted. The mere fact that you have been given a ticket or accused of a crime is not even evidence of guilt.

Another important protection is the right to have a witness whose testimony you may need subpoenaed to appear in court and testify. Many people are reluctant to go to court when their own rights are involved, and unless you had a means for compelling their attendance and testimony, you often would be unable to prove the facts necessary for success in your case.

It is the duty of every citizen to testify if he has information important to a law suit and is called upon to do so. The courts can and do enforce attendance in court and the giving of testimony.

Certain other safeguards are valuable to you. A person may refuse to testify in any proceeding if he has a reasonable belief that his testimony could be used as a basis of a criminal proceeding against him. This does not mean, of course, that a confession given freely and voluntarily cannot be used in evidence. But it does mean that an accused cannot be compelled to take the witness stand, nor can his failure to testify be commented upon by the prosecution.

Our courts provide many safeguards for the innocent against false accusations of crime. But many of these rights would be valueless without the assistance of a lawyer, who has been schooled in legal principles and rules of statute or decision involved, to invoke these rights.

The "right to counsel" must be granted to every accused person brought before any court in the state. The law provides that if an accused person cannot afford to pay for legal counsel and desires it, the court must appoint a lawyer to assist him in his case.

Every person charged with an infraction of the law has the right to consult counsel before making any plea. This applies to cases in every court — including justice of the peace courts, municipal courts, traffic courts and district courts. It does little good to consult a lawyer after you have pleaded guilty and paid the fine, for then the damage has been done.

The courts are open to you any time one of your legal rights has been denied or any of your property has been unlawfully taken. This is one of your most precious rights. The courts are the only peaceful means of enforcing your rights.

Hong Kong. — Two privates of the British Army, assigned to watch Chinese guards who had charge of some tarpaulins in a compound, sent the Chinese off on a fake errand. When the Chinese returned, 27 tarpaulins were gone. One of the Chinese spotted a truck leaving the compound and traced it. This led to the conviction of the two privates in court.

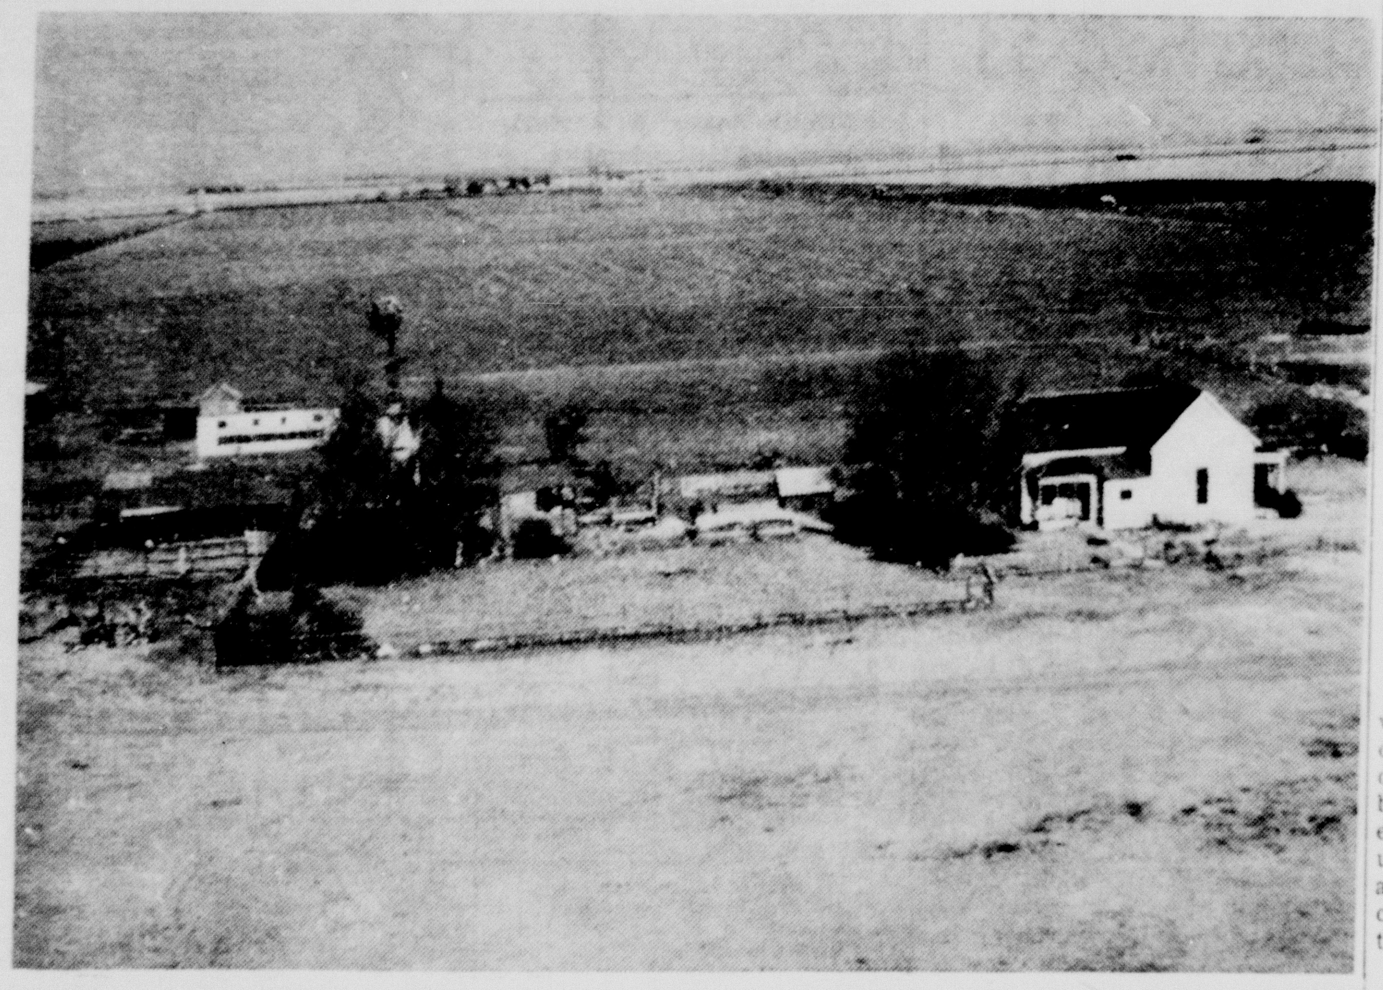
All kinds of farm crops have been bringing in more money the past few years than they did before the war. And even with higher prices, the number of acres planted of all crops taken together has been increasing. But peanut acreage has lost ground. If this trend continues, every year there will be fewer peanuts and more people to eat them.

Our population is getting bigger every year, yet the Farm Value of the peanut crop has dropped from more than $246 million (@10½c per pound) in 1948 to about $150 million (@11c per pound) in 1952. A vote against peanut acreage control in December can reverse this trend.

Who Is Owner of "The Mystery Farm" of This Week



An entire neighborhood of farms can be seen in this picture that shows Mystery Farm No. 31 in the foreground. One of the familiar clues that may help you identify this farm is the main highway in the background. The situation of the house, trees, and windmill in the back should be clues to add the clincher to your identification. See if you can be the first to tell the owner that his is the Mystery Farm this week in The Canyon News. When the owner comes to The News office and identifies the farm he will receive a 5x7 gloss photograph of the farm absolutely free.

H-SU Better Mudders Than Buffalo Team

The Buffalo football team lost another game Saturday night, defeated by Hardin Simmons University of Abilene, 26-14.

While statistics favored the Buffs, costly fumbles and long passes at critical minutes spelled defeat for the locals in a shower of rain and on a muddy field.

The Buffs made 11 first downs to 14 for the visitors; but the Buffs gained 208 yards as compared with 176 for the Cowboys. H-SU lost 25 yards on line smashes, and the Buffs 15.

The Cowboys completed 7 of 20 attempts at passes for 160 yards; while the Buffs made 6 of 12 attempts, for 67 yards; the visitors intercepted one Buff pass; the locals none.

The Cowboys recovered six fumbles, while the Buffs recovered but one.

The Buffaloes will play the University of Arizona at Tucson the coming Saturday night.

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18th CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

The Drouth

Although we have had spotted rains and some gully-washers, the Panhandle section is still in the devastating grip of the drouth. One has only to travel over the district as I have in the recent past to appreciate the tremendous damage wrought by this disaster. Actually we received the full impact this year of a dry spell that has been developing for the past three years.

In the spring, I discussed the matter at length with weather experts in Washington who have spent their lives studying weather conditions. The picture then was not good. These experts told me that the drouth would spread. It has.

They also told me that they would not undertake to estimate or foretell the length of the drouth or when some precipitation might be expected? They did say, however, that the present trends measured by experienced tables from a historic standpoint indicated a continuation of dryness for two or three years.

They, however, pointed out that this was not an official observation, as all official observations are confined to approximately 30 days in the future. There have been several recent releases from weather observers that much moisture is expected during the next few months. We all hope that these observations will come to pass.

Moisture in November, December, and January will not be of any help to the cattle people.

No doubt this is what prompted the Secretary of Agriculture and the President to allocate $10,000,000 out of the President's emergency fund for drouth relief this winter.

They indicated that hay would be made available. Hay was not included before under the Government Relief Program or the Reduced Freight Rate Program. The Government confines its relief to disbursing commodity credit surpluses.

Commodity credit corporation does not own any hay. The reduced freight rates applied only to commodity credit surpluses; therefore, hay could not be shipped at the reduced rate.

Under the new plan, the Government proposes to pay a part of the freight rate so that the cost of the hay to the rancher will be reduced sufficiently to permit the rancher to obtain it and feed it. I have sought to have hay included in the program since its inception.

Although its present inclusion will help a great deal, it comes too late for many who could have been saved during the early summer months.

How Important Is Water

One acre foot of water is required to produce 200 lbs. of beef, 10,000 lbs. or oranges, 15 tons of synthetic rubber, 40 tons of raw sulphur, 200 lbs. of cotton lint, 22 tons of chlorine, 36 tons of petrochemicals, to mention just a few things.

We in this section have always appreciated the need of water, but the drouth has pointed up the problem. Our efforts should never be relaxed until we obtain facilities for capturing surface water so that it can be utilized for the betterment of mankind rather than permitting it to go unused into the sea. Few realize that approximately 85% of the surface water is not and has not been utilized; it flows into the sea.

Superior Efficiency of American Industry

Output per capita in the United States is twice as large as in Britain, three times as large as in France, and about nine times as large as the average of the rest of the world.

Did you know that from 1946 to 1952 this country exported in goods $45 billion more than it imported. Thirteen billion dollars of this amount was paid through the International Bank, the International Monetary Fund, private dollar sources of investments, and hard currency reserves of importing countries. This left a balance of $32 billion to be paid by these countries from some other source. It is interesting to note that during that 7 year period the United States furnished foreign aid in the amount of $36 billion. It isn't easy to guess where the $32 billion came from.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN: Eyes of the nation were focused on Texas during President Eisenhower's visit.

Entering the state by plane, the president proceeded to Sharyland, baronial home of Governor and Mrs. Shivers near Mission.

Next on the program was a 65-mile drive to Falcon Dam, where Mr. Eisenhower was met by the Mexican ambassador to the United States.

Crossing the international border, the president met President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines of Mexico on the steps of Nuevo Guerrero's municipal palace.

The two presidents reviewed a festival in the plaza below the palace.

Later Mr. Eisenhower and Sr. Cortines lunched together at Falcon Dam, then proceeded to the dedication ceremony, where both made speeches.

After the ceremonies, President Eisenhower drove to Laredo and took a plane for Washington.

President Eisenhower, incidentally, is the second Chief Executive of the United States who has ever visited the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Warren G. Harding spent two weeks fishing in the Gulf of Mexico off Port Isabel in November, 1920, while he was president-elect.

Eisenhower's visit with President Cortines of Mexico marks the fifth meeting between presidents of the United States and Mexico since 1912. Previously President Taft met Diaz at Juarez, in 1912; Roosevelt met Avila Camacho at Monterrey in 1942; Truman met Miguel Aleman in Mexico City in 1947 and Aleman and Truman met in Washington in 1948.

Behind all the pomp and excitement of the Eisenhower visit to Texas a political struggle was going on as three factions sought the favor of Texas voters.

These were the Republicans, the Shivers or Conservative Democrats, and the Adlai Stevenson or Liberal Democrats.

National Republican Chairman Leonard Hall concluded a visit to Texas after exhorting his party's members to whoop up their efforts.

"If you work hard," he said in a speech at Houston, "it will not be long before we find as many Republicans in Texas as we find in New York."

Meanwhile, Sam Rayburn, a leader of the so-called Liberal Democrats, doubted that the Republicans were getting anywhere very fast in Texas.

He expressed himself at San Antonio as being glad that Hall had come down this way, and: "I hope they will send all their big shots down here because I would be interested in hearing their excuses for not carrying out their glorious campaign pledges of 1952."

In the third political camp, that of the Shivers Democrats, there was activity too, but it was mostly organization work — that hard and dreary but necessary precinct-level ringing of doorbells that has to be done in order to win.

Texas Congressman Lloyd M. Bentsen, Jr., who had frequently been listed as a possible candidate for governor last year, added some warmth to the political situation.

He has been making talks all over the state, but when asked about his plans, he answered, "I have nothing to say at this time about my political future."

Bentsen represents the Fifteenth Congressional District in the Rio Grande Valley. The question asks itself:

If he is not thinking about a statewide political race, why is he speaking so extensively?

Maybe there will be a special session of the Legislature in November to deal with the state's part in a winter hay program for drouth areas.

Rains during the past month have vastly improved the situation in most sections of the state, but there are areas which are still suffering from lack of moisture.

Governor Shivers put off his decision on a special session until after a meeting in Kansas City with President Eisenhower and governors of other drouth-affected states.

"If the federal government is going to participate in a winter hay program," Shivers said, "I feel the states should also participate very strongly, by management, money, or otherwise. That may necessitate a session of the legislature."

If called, the session would deal only with the hay plan, and not concern itself with teacher pay.

There has been hope that money for teacher salary increases would become quickly available if the U. S. Supreme Court refused to consider the validity of a gas gathering tax passed by the Texas Legislature in 1951.

Such a ruling would have had the effect of upholding the tax and would have made the tax revenues, now being collected under protest and unspent, subject to appropriation by the legislature for teacher pay hikes or any other purpose.

But the court decided to hear arguments on the appeal of test cases brought by a number of pipeline companies.

That takes time, and it will probably be next year before there is a supreme court decision in the case.

More money for teachers is an essential and urgent proposition, says James A. Redmond of Beaumont, president of the Texas Association of School Boards.

Speaking at a meeting of the association here, Redmond stated that unless something is done soon about the shortage of teachers things will "certainly become critical and can only result in further curtailment of education."

Governor Shivers told the school board members that there is no disagreement about the need of teachers for a pay boost, but there is disagreement about how to bring it about.

There must be a meeting of minds on how to effect the salary increase, the governor said, or a special session of the legislature on the subject would get nowhere.

J. Rutledge Hill of Dallas was named chairman of the state board of hospitals and special schools, succeeding James M. Windham of Livingston.

James G. Dudley of Houston was elected vice-chairman, succeeding Hill.

Texas' system of hospitals for mental and tuberculosis cases is under the board's supervision.

To find out whether the University of Texas system is operating in the most economical and efficient manner, a survey will be made of the administrative set-up, announced Tom Sealy of Midland, chairman of the university board of regents.

Making the survey will be the Texas Research League, which will share the expense equally with the Ford Foundation.

Costing $100,000, the survey will include the main university, medical schools at Dallas and Galveston, a postgraduate medical training program, a dental school, a cancer research hospital, Texas Western College at El Paso, McDonald Observatory near Fort Davis, and the Institute of Marine Science.

"It is one of the biggest educational institutions in the country," Sealy said, "with an operating budget of $23 million a year."

Luna Stationed at Thule, Greenland

Pvt. Louis Luna, son of Mrs. Lena Aldurter, is currently stationed at Thule Air Base in Greenland. This information was recently received by The News in a press release from George H. Bissell, public information officer at Thule Air Base.

Luna attended Canyon High School, and was employed by Taylor-Evans Farm Stores before entering the service October 29, 1952.

Thule Air Base is the northernmost base in the Northeast Air Command. Well above the Arctic Circle, it is situated 800 miles south of the North Pole and 2,200 miles north of New York City.

It will soon pass through the period of complete darkness. From the first part of November until the middle of February, the sun will remain below the horizon and the months of December and January will be totally without light.

In addition to being the northernmost part of the United States Air Force, Thule is also a very important link in the chain of U. S. defenses. It is classed as the most important link in the chain of the northeast command bases due to its strategic location at the very "roof" of the world.

The Green Mountains of Vermont belong to the Appalachian Range.

Mrs. Chester Dowell of Dumas and her husband, Pvt. Chester Dowell, who is stationed at Ft. Sill, were here for Homecoming and visited in the home of her mother and brother, Mrs. Ruth Hill and Lowell.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Batson left last week for Birmingham, Ala., to attend the wedding of her brother, Bill Lanning.

Mrs. Jerre Inman and daughter of Lamar, Colo., are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Carter, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Otta Lee Elkins.

Sgt. and Mrs. R. J. Tatman spent the week-end in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Owens.

Local Boys Win Top Honors at 1953 State Fair

For the third consecutive year a local F.F.A. boy has returned home with top honors from the Dallas State Fair. This year it was Raymond Hinders who showed the Grand Champion steer in the Senior yearling class at Dallas. The 1951 and 1952 Grand Champion steers were exhibited there by Larry Prater, another local F.F.A. boy. Hinders entered two Holstein heifers in the Junior and Senior class. He showed the Grand Champion in the Senior yearling class and the Reserve Grand Champion in the Junior yearling class.

County Agent John Brazzil and Loyd Devin, head of the local F.F.A. chapter, were in Dallas with the 4-H Club and F.F.A. boys. In the Junior show at the fair more than 400 animals were entered by Texas boys.

Local boys showing steers at Dallas, in addition to Hinders, were Foster Parker, Donnie Hales, Jimmy Hales, Albert Craig, and Norman and Weldon Tucek. This was Foster Parker's second year to exhibit steers at the State Fair.

Norman Tucek showed three animals. He had two shorthorn heifers and one Angus steer. Loyd Devin said these two animals had been shown at Amarillo and at the South Plains Fair at Lubbock. The two shorthorn heifers are in the Junior and Senior class. The Senior class heifer has never been beat in her division. The Junior class heifer won in her class at Lubbock.

Norman took a first place at the State Fair in each division entered with his shorthorn heifers. He showed the Junior Champion and Reserve Grand Champion. His Angus steer in the heavyweight class was fifth in its class.

Foster Parker exhibited a Hereford steer in the middleweight class and won third place. Jimmy Hales exhibited a Senior yearling Holstein heifer and won second place. His heifer was beaten out by Raymond Hinders.' Donnie Hales also showed a Holstein heifer that placed first in the Junior heifer Holstein class.

In the class that Albert Craig was showing his steer there were 90 entries. Craig placed 21st in this class. Weldon Tucek was 10th in his class.

County Agent John Brazzil reported the competition at the State Fair as very tough. "This was expected," he said, "since most of the steers had been carried over from spring shows and were especially groomed for the state fair show."

In the auction sale which followed the Randall County steers sold at a strong price, bringing from 32 to 37 cents per pound.

Latest Rumors From Political Front of Nation

Mr. Eisenhower is being quoted as having told a recent visitor that he was getting "damned tired" of the pressures that politicians try to bring to bear upon him to influence decisions. The President is irritated by attacks being made upon Agriculture Secretary Ezra Benson.

Leonard Hall, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, is not at all happy about the scarcity of practical politicians on the staff of the White House. The feeling seems to be that not enough high-level attention is being given to patronage.

Grass-roots Missouri Republicans who worked hard for Eisenhower last year are complaining to the White House that all the "bread and butter" patronage is going to the East under the watchful eye of Herbert Brownell, Attorney General. Job problems for the party in power are growing as job opportunities in private life shrink.

Some important Republican Senators are complaining that Government workers in many areas—holdovers from Democratic days—are talking against the party now in power and causing some political damage.

Secretary Benson is bumping into the complaint that Government begrudges 50 millions in aid for drouth-stricken American farmers while handing out 6.5 billions in aid of one kind or another to foreign nations.

The White House itself made the decision to keep high price supports on oats, barley and rye after the Department of Agriculture had about made up its mind to lower those supports as it is permitted to do. White House visitors get strong impression that Mr. Eisenhower is to line up on the side of high support prices for farm products for the years ahead.

Herbert Hoover recently was surprised to find how strongly President Eisenhower feels on tariff policy. Mr. Eisenhower is thoroughly sold on the idea that this country must see to it that tariffs are low.

Lester Johnson, the new Democratic representative from Wisconsin, is pledged against internationalist policies, a fact that does not give much political comfort to the Adlai Stevenson wing of the Democratic Party.

Governor Frank Lausche, of Ohio, is being looked upon with favor by Southern Democrats as a candidate for President in 1956. Lausche is regarded by the Southerners as conservative enough for their support, but not too conservative for the Northern liberals.

Representative Charles B. Brownson (Rep.), of Indiana, after giving close inspection of developments in Korea, is going to make a report critical of Syngman Rhee for the way he plans to spend 500 million dollars in U. S. aid. A radio station, new capitol building, hotels for tourists and a high-speed highway from Seoul to Pusan are reported to be scheduled to get the money, instead of more basic reconstruction of power and communication facilities.

John Foster Dulles is caught in what is becoming known as a Franco-Italian bloc of diplomats in his State Department. These diplomats go along with the French view that Americans should carry more of the load of defending Europe so the 48 mlilion West Germans can remain disarmed.

Admiral Arthur Radford, Chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, is discovering that the French want to exact a high price for the privilege of permitting atom bombs to be stored anywhere on French territory for the defense of France by American troops. U. S. military opinion is that a high price tag goes along with any cooperating venture involving France.

Charles E. Wilson, Defense Secretary, feels that the time is approaching when this country should start to pull its forces out of Western Europe unless the people of that area show more interest in defending themselves, or at least stop blocking all plans of the German nation to rearm.

President Eisenhower is turning thumbs down on the idea of an "Operation Candor" designed to give the world more information about A-bombs and H-bombs. The President sees no reason for trying to scare the public at home or abroad.

German scientists, once leaders in atomic research, are going to get permission to resume that activity after the contractual agreement that restores much German sovereignty is ratified. The Germans are interested in rebuilding their scientific research.

Clare Boothe Luce, U. S. Ambassador to Italy, is credited by the State Department with the idea of trying to force a settlement of the Trieste issue—and strengthening Italy's Premier—by withdrawing British and American forces from Trieste. Tito's reaction was more violent than anticipated.

NEW DEVICE: 'YARDOMETER'

Huntington, W. Va. — Arnold Browning, "Mr. Golf," at Huntington's Guyan Country Club, has come up with an ingenious device to satisfy golfers who "guess" at the yardage they drive. It consists of a stick on a wheel, which fastens onto the back of the golfer's belt. When a drive is hit, the golfer starts walking with the "yardometer" tagging along behind. When the ball is reached, all the golfer has to do to measure his yardage is to lift the stick and look at the meter on the stick to get the distance.

INGENIOUS PILOT

Meadville, Pa. — Nicholas Morohovich, 38, and Francis Confer, 31, took off in their four-seater airplane for a routine flight recently. Morohovich heard a loud snap and discovered his landing gear had broken and was dangling under the fuselage. Making a lasso out of two safety belts, he leaned way out of the plane, snagged the gear and tied it to a strut while Confer piloted the plane with one hand and held on to Morohovich's legs with the other. They landed the plane without mishap.

CATERPILLAR FUZZ DANGEROUS

Seattle, Wash. — A boy tossed a caterpillar and it hit 5-year-old Douglas Peterson right in the eye. Douglas brushed it off, then rubbed his eye because it itched. A few hours later, the eye was swollen tightly shut and the child was in intense pain. Several operations were required on the eye to remove the hairs from the caterpillar which had become imbedded in the boy's eyelid and eyeball.

NO AMBULANCE NEEDED

Idaho Falls, Idaho. — After three cars tangled on the highway, the driver of one of them looked into one of the cars and called an ambulance. It turned out, however, that no one was seriously hurt. Mrs. Darwin Champion was even able to smile through her tears as she wiped red paint from a spilled can from her hair.

CASE DISMISSED

Newport News, Va. — When witnesses testified that Joe Canady, 50-year-old Negro in court on a charge of forgery, could not write, the case was dismissed.
